

I think the current method of selecting an internet provider is fine.
We are free to select a phone company as our provider if we so desire so we shouldn't be forced to against our wishes.